As a famous face, I am always in the spotlight.

We lose our right to privacy. This can take a toll on a relationship, especially if your partner is not used to constant media attention.

How to deal with it?

- 1) You can sort out issues by discussing them with your partner. Don't ignore your problems, acknowledge them.
- 2) Decide what you want from your relationship, and your professional life. Don't mix the two.
- 3) Communication and understanding are vital in any relationship.
