THE JUICE

THE launch of 'Bombay 72 East' almost appeared to be a dud as everybody had followed the Indian Standard Time and walked in very late. The only people who were there early enough were Cyrus Sahukar and Niharika Khan who then decided to kill time by exploring the interiors of the contemporary Indian restaurant. Cyrus was heard saying, "I am staying away from alcohol. But I ask them for real juice and the give me 'Real' juice. Either way you're at a loss," he quipped. He then rushed off to greet Mini Mathur who walked in and got busy checking herself out on screen where a show she was hosting was on air. Salman Khan surprised everybody by being early for once. The excitement however, was shortlived as he made a very hasty exit even as media crew were setting up their paraphernalia to interview him. Salman rushed out followed by a horde of journalists hot on his heels, but he gave them the slip.
