Decorating the Christmas tree is an annual tradition at our house. My wife Sneha loves to decorate one and I just chip in for fun! Like every year, this year too, I will be going on a vacation with Sneha to a foreign locale. I would really like to surprise her for once since she is the one who usually does all the planning every year. It will be so much fun to see the expression on her face when I break the news!! Especially since I have told her that I am working during that week.
