

The young and the chic

Our reporter Sandipan Dalal will take you where no fan has been before – right into the lives and living rooms of your favourite celebrities. Get set for classified information

BACK TO SECTION STORIES  POSTED ON MONDAY, JUNE 04, 2007

 Mail this Article

 Print this Article

 Search

 View Comments

 Rate this Article

 Comments

Sandipan Dalal

This time on our weekly star trek we take you to Iqbal Khan's pad. Read on to know more about his morning rituals, gadgets and prized possessions

TEA FOR TWO

Whoever said that old habits die hard, said it right. Ever since he moved in to the city, Iqbal's morning rituals include making tea. With parents living in Srinagar, the actor has been pretty much managing the kitchen. "I think I can toss up a meal," he says. Even during the shoot, he makes tea in the morning for himself and his wife Sneha. The only difference is that his kitchen has seen a drastic change in size. "I love my kitchen. It is pretty big."

THE TABLOID JUNKIE

Mornings are usually spent at the dining table with a heap of newspapers. "I can give a lecture on tabloid war," he says. These days he is reading books on the evolution of film academies in New York. "My mornings are usually lazy. I keep whiling around before hitting the gym," he